Edward Wilson, Whose Sanity Was Investigated Here, Was Arrested in Chicago on Saturday, His Wife Says.

Calmly followed on the heels of trouble for Edward Wilson and family, who, until recently, resided on a farm north of the city. Wilson was last week taken from his home on the farm owned by George Jerome on the Madison road and put in the county jail until a jury of six had determined that he was not insane as some of his neighbors alleged. On Saturday he and his family went to Chicago, Wilson taking charge of the oldest boy and Mrs. Wilson caring for the baby and little girl. In crossing the city to the home of Wilson's mother-in-law and his wife became separated and he, as his wife told here, was arrested for kidnapping his own son and is in jail at Chicago. A. Anderson. Mr. Anderson sent her to the home of a brother in Orfordville. The family furniture and household goods was packed up when the Wilsons left the farm and is now at a local depot.

UNITED STATES WINS TOBACCO TRUST CASE ACCORDING TO A DECISION TODAY

Justice White Delivers the Decision With One Dissenting Opinion That of Harlan.

SENT BACK TO COURT

Case One of the Most Noted in the United States is Finally Decided Late This Afternoon.

Washington, May 29.—The government won the tobacco trust case. This was the decision of the supreme court of the United States, although the case was reversed and remanded to the lower court to secure modification. Justice White delivered the opinion. Justice Harlan, as in the Standard Oil case, dissented.

The American Tobacco corporations were made the target of the second big "trust" prosecution of recent years. The first was the Standard Oil. Because the testimony taken in the tobacco case was not so extensive as that in the Standard Oil, the two cases were before the Supreme Court for consideration at the same time.

The attempt of the government to dissolve the Tobacco corporation as violating the Sherman anti-trust law took shape in 1907; in that year, a petition was filed in the United States Circuit Court at New York. The government asked that the American Tobacco Company, its officers, directors and affiliated corporations, be prevented and enjoined from restraining and monopolizing commerce in tobacco.

The restraints and the monopolies alleged by the government, were said to have been obtained by an intricate system of corporate organization. It began in 1890, when the first American Tobacco Company was organized. The new company took over the business of five independent cigarette concerns.

In 1898 the Continental Tobacco Company was incorporated to take over the plug-tobacco business of the American Tobacco Company and that of five independent plug manufacturers.

In 1900, the American Snuff Company was incorporated to take over the snuff business of the American Tobacco Company, and of two other independent manufacturers.

In 1901, the American Cigar Company was incorporated to take over the business of the American Tobacco Company and other manufacturers and sellers of cigars, cheroots and stogies.

In the same year, the Consolidated Tobacco Company was incorporated to take over in exchange for its lands substantially all of the stock of the American Tobacco Company and the Continental Tobacco Company.

In 1903, the American Stride Company was incorporated to take over the single business of the American Cigar Company, the American Tobacco Company, and the Continental Tobacco Company.

In 1904, the American Tobacco Company, the Continental Tobacco Company, and the Consolidated Tobacco Company were merged into the present American Tobacco Company.

The government claimed that all these organizations were created with the definite purpose to destroy competition and that they accomplished that purpose. Each step was attacked as a part of an unlawful plan, whose development and progress was advanced, it was charged, by duress, oppression, and unfair methods intended to drive out and keep out competitors and secure monopolies.

The defendants claimed that nothing was to be found in the organization of these corporations, but the orderly, natural and legitimate development of a great business. They said the acquisitions had been proper and that no intent to restrain trade or monopolize trade had prompted the creation of corporations.

In addition, it was charged that the American Tobacco Company acquired control of the United Cigar Stores Company, which conducts retail stores in large cities, an avenue absolutely necessary to effective competition.

The tobacco organization was charged with having a monopoly of the licorice paste, required in the manufacture of tobacco, the MacAndrews & Forbes Company, organized by the Continental having no competitors it was said.

It was also said that the defendants had a monopoly in the tin foil business, owned by the Continental, of which the American Tobacco Company held a majority of the stock, producing 75 per cent of the tin foil manufactured in this country. Both the licorice and the foil monopolies were said to have been obtained in violation of the Sherman anti-trust law.

Another phase of the litigation concerned the foreign trade. The petition charged that the American Tobacco Company had entered into contracts with the Imperial Tobacco Company, the so-called "British Trust," whereby the latter should limit its activities to Great Britain except as to the purchase of a certain amount of leaf tobacco from the United States. It was alleged that the "British Trust" organized the Imperial Tobacco Company to take over the export business of both and divide the world between them. These contracts were made in Great Britain.

The circuit court found that there existed a restraint of commerce, but said nothing about the charges of monopolizing. In its degree, the court dismissed the petition as to the Imperial company and the British-American Company and from this feature of the decree the government appealed to the supreme court. It dismissed the petition as to the United Cigar Stores Company, and from this, too, the government appealed.

The circuit court decreed that the American Tobacco Company, the American Cigar Company, the American Snuff Company, the American Stride Company, the Continental Tobacco Company, and the Consolidated Tobacco Company, be prevented and enjoined from restraining and monopolizing commerce in tobacco.

MOTION TO DISMISS CHARGES WAS TAKEN UNDER ADVISEMENT

Examination of William J. Hutchins, charged with Wife Abandonment, Adjourned Until Wednesday Morning.

Pending a decision by Municipal Judge Field as to whether or not he may hold William J. Hutchins, charged with abandonment of Tilla Zanzinger, Hutchins, his alleged wife, for a misdemeanor when a felony is charged, Attorney George O. Sutherland, for the defense, will submit briefs giving authorities for his motion to dismiss the case. The case was adjourned to ten o'clock Wednesday morning after the complete testimony had been submitted in municipal court this morning.

The case was called at half past nine o'clock this morning and Tilla Zanzinger, the alleged wife of Hutchins, took the stand to resume her testimony. The state then introduced as a witness John Zanzinger, father of the girl, who testified that Hutchins had introduced him (Zanzinger) in Beloit as Hutchins' father-in-law.

After the completion of the testimony for the prosecution Attorney Sutherland made a motion to dismiss the case, but the court denied the motion. Hutchins was put on the stand in his own defense and denied the statements made by John Zanzinger. Allegations against the complaining witness, Hutchins' alleged wife, were also made. Hutchins admitted, under cross-examination by District Attorney Dunwiddie that he had been married to another woman besides his present wife.

He also acknowledged the fact that he had been sent to the state prison for three years and from there transferred to the Green Bay reformatory for the theft of clothes in La Crosse. During the time he was in prison he said he was divorced by his former wife, Margaret Hutchins, a sister of the defendant, also testified for the defense. The motion to dismiss the charges was refused by Judge Sutherland.

Hutchins' own father is against him in the case and wants the "law to do what is right." The father alleges that it has cost him hundreds of dollars for trouble which the young man has caused.

Mrs. Hutchins, Jr., remains with her husband and has assumed the same affectionate pose with the prisoner as on previous days of the examination, much to the disgust of some of the spectators in court.

TWO BOYS CAUGHT ON TRESTLE SUNDAY

Youngsters Had Narrow Escape When Number 501 Due Here At 12:10 Stopped On Monterey Trestle Close To Them.

Two small boys had a narrow escape from death or serious injuries yesterday about noon when they were caught in the middle of the Monterey bridge by the passenger train from Chicago, number 501, due here at 12:10 under the new schedule. As the youngsters were crossing the trestle a switch engine in charge of Dave Griffin pushed them on the other track. Knowing that the north bound passenger was due in a few minutes, the engineer on the switch engine blew a long blast of warning. A few seconds after the engine of 501 appeared around the curve under the viaduct coming at a fast speed. Engineer Tribble saw the boys almost as soon as he came within the bend and with great presence of mind put on the brakes and with a grinding and clanging of the brakes came to a stop within a few feet of the youngsters, who were too terrified to move. It was a narrow escape which will serve as a lesson to them on future occasions.

NEW TRAINS ADDED

Two New Trains Are Placed Into Service Running To Chicago Via Beloit—Other Changes.

Number 517 is a local train making all the stops at Janesville, Madison, Baraboo and Elroy.

On account of the train to Chicago via Beloit at 7:20 in the evening, the train to Chicago by the way of Clinton, number 501, formerly leaving at 7:35 p. m., will now leave at 6:50. Also on account of this evening train to Beloit and Chicago the Beloit seat will not be needed.

Train number 513 which was formerly made up at Janesville and left at 4:15 p. m. for Madison and points north will start from Chicago at 1:15 p. m. coming by way of Beloit and leaving at the same time. Train number 505 will leave here for St. Paul at 9:30 p. m. instead of 9:25 p. m. as formerly and 511 will leave at 9:00 instead of 8:50 p. m. OBITUARY.
Mrs. Elizabeth Cady.
Funeral services for the late Mrs. Elizabeth Cady were held this morning at nine o'clock from St. Patrick's church. The remains were shipped to Whitewater this morning and interment was made in the Catholic cemetery there.
Father James McElhinny officiated. The pall bearers were, Charles Russell, T. B. Burns, J. D. Luby, James Delaney, E. J. Murphy and Thorwald Lovdahl.
Mrs. Louise Cunningham.
Mrs. Louise Cunningham, 66-year-old widow, passed away last Saturday evening at her home on Milwaukee avenue. Death was due to a complication of diseases.
Mrs. Cunningham was born at Bridgeport, Oneida County, New York, March 25th, 1836. In 1859 she came to Wisconsin and the same year was united in marriage to Horace Cunningham. For twenty-eight years they lived at Johnsonville, where they made many friends. In 1887 they moved to Janesville and since that time have made their home at 817 Milwaukee avenue. Mrs. Cunningham was a woman endowed with rare qualities and beloved by all who knew her.
She leaves besides her husband one daughter, Mrs. Frank Huggins, and three grandsons, Harry, John, Horace, and Frank B. Huggins, living south of the city. Funeral services will be held at two o'clock Wednesday afternoon from the home on Milwaukee avenue.
John P. Steinbecker.
John P. Steinbecker, after an illness of nearly nine years, passed away Friday morning at the county hospital. He was born in Vienna, Austria, and when a youth came to this country, settling in Mezzanin, Wisconsin. When thirty years of age he came to Janesville and for many years was employed by the MacCloskey Coal Company. The deceased was a member of the Modern Woodmen lodge and was nearly sixty years old. He leaves a wife and two sons, Frank and John of this city, and two daughters, Mrs. Helen Lloyd of Milbank, S. Dak., and Mrs. Grace Baker of Honey Creek, Wis.

The remains will be shipped to Mezzanin, Wis., tomorrow and services will be in charge of the Modern Woodmen there.

German Higher Education.
A recent convention of learned men at Berlin advised the government to establish two kinds of lycées for girls—one of eight years, corresponding to a high school in this country, and another, with a supplementary course of four years, preparatory to the university.

Poor Squires.
A very large proportion of the landowners of this country are poor men who manage to keep going only by the very strictest economy, or by gradually creating charges upon their estates. The average squire is now the least extravagant man in the country.—Estates Gazette, (Eng.).

What is an Heirloom?
One thing afternoon Aunt Sue was explaining the meaning of, various words to her young nephew. "Now, an heirloom, my dear, means something that has been handed down from father to son," she said. "Well," replied the boy, thoughtfully, "that's a queer name for my pants."

Low Dockstadter.
Low Dockstadter, who is to be at the Myers theatre this evening, with his minstrel company, is planning, after the present season to take his organization with himself at its head, to England, negotiations for a long engagement in London being already well under way. Dockstadter expects to be gone for about two years, and has but little doubt of the successful outcome of the venture. There has not been a minstrel show in England since the demise of "Pony Moore," whose Moore and Burgess minstrels were long a permanent institution in the British capital. Minstrel shows are about the only type of American theatricals that the British could have ever really taken kindly to, and nearly all of those who have gone over there have been signally successful. Col. Jack Beverly, when he took his minstrel troupe of "Count 'em Forty" to the other side, created a furore that has never been equaled by any American company in England, and Canadian and English minstrel players there to big audiences for several years.

Mr. Dockstadter will take a big company with him, and will introduce all of the novel features which have made him so successful in America.

Revero Garden Hose

The Hose That Stands Hard Use

Of course garden-hose ought to have kind use and tender care—but it doesn't get it.

"Revero" Hose is made to stand a long life of rough use and hard wear. We know it will be puddle-soaked and then sun-baked, dragged over rough stones and around sharp corners. Wagons and wheelbarrows and ash-barrels will grind and crush it.

"Revero" Hose is prepared for the worst. It is tough.

"Revero" Hose is made by the old, slow process, which produces such stiff, springy, long-lasting hose. An inner tube of pure "live" rubber is tightly wrapped with layer after layer of close-woven duck all vulcanized tight together, with an outside cover of tough rubber to take the wear. After seasoning, every foot is tested under tremendous hydraulic pressure, to discover the slightest defect.

BUNCHED HITS AND ERRORS WON GAME FOR BELOIT TEAM

Green's City Team Defeated Yesterday At Fair Grounds By the Score of 7 to 3.—Deciding Game of Series Played Tomorrow.

Bunched hits by Beloit in the third, fourth, fifth and eighth innings and frequent errors on the part of the Janesville players in the game yesterday afternoon at the Fair Grounds, gave a victory to the Beloit City nine over the local players by the score of 7 to 3. Carroll, for Janesville pitched well, but lacked support. He allowed ten hits, while but three were marked up against Reynolds, who was on the slab for Beloit and was backed up by good playing in the field. Walter Brown, manager of the local team, who was playing first base, was forced to go to the bench in the fourth inning, being hurt by the ball.

Frequent showers yesterday drove away the fans and made the work more difficult for the players, the ball being soaked every time it went into the grass. Brown has been unfortunate this season thus far as far as the weather is concerned, rain spoiling all but one of the games, which were scheduled. With the salary that is quite high, the loss has been out of his pocket and it is said that he is about two hundred to the bad thus far this season.

The homers between Beloit and Janesville are now about even. Beloit, in a measure, retaliating for the drubbing which they received from Janesville's hands a few Sunday's previous.

The deciding game of the inter-city series will be played tomorrow afternoon at the Fair Grounds in this city. Janesville's batteries will be the same as in yesterday's game, Smith and Cronin. Reynolds may pitch again for Beloit or Lise will be put on the slab. Jack Hall will be the Beloit backstop.

The box scores for yesterday's game:

SATURDAY'S GAMES IN SCHOOL LEAGUE

Convent Team, Just Entering League, Takes First Place by Defeating Washington School Nine—Other Contests.

STANDING OF TEAMS.

W.	L.	Pct.
St. Joseph's Convent	1	0 1000
Garfield	3	1 750
Lincoln	1	1 500
Adams	1	1 500
Washington	1	1 500
Jefferson	0	1 1000

St. Joseph's convent school has joined the city graded school baseball league and in their first game on Saturday defeated the Washington school nine by a score of 14 to 11, putting the convent school at the head of the league. Hinkley, for the Catholic school, performed an unusual feat for a junior twirler, pitching himself out of a hole in the ninth inning. With all bases full and none out, he struck out three Washington school batters in succession.

The line-up:
St. Joseph's Convent: Fear, c; Hengney, p; Marshall, ss; Brennan, 1b; Condon, 2b; Flannery, 3b; Denning, lf; Casaday, cf; Kohler, cf.
Washington: Badger, c; Drake, p; Shawson, ss; Bennett, 1b; Bidwell, 2b; Jones, 3b; Board, lf; Forey, cf; Brown, cf.

Garfield vs. Jefferson.
An eleven hour rally, such as has won previous games for them, gave the Garfield school team the victory Saturday afternoon in their game against the Jefferson school nine, the score being 12 to 10. The rally in the eighth by the Garfield batters brought in five scores and decided the contest. Batteries: Garfield, C. Drow and H. Mason and E. Stokes and G. Spohn; Jefferson, Fleming and Mills.

Adams vs. Convent.
To the fact that Emerson, star pitcher for the Adams school nine, was not on the job, is attributed the defeat of that school by the Lincoln school on Saturday afternoon. The score was 7 to 4. The Adams school and Garfield school aggregations will come together on Memorial day at Athletic park.

CUBS LOST TO STOUGHTON IN A GAME THERE SUNDAY

Local Nine, Matched Against League Players, Held Opponents to Score of 10 to 3.

Matched against a nine composed of league players, the Janesville Cubs, an amateur nine, held the Stoughton city team down to a score of 10 to 3 in their game at Stoughton yesterday. Five of the runs of the Stoughton score were made on errors by Brown and Pire, catchers for Janesville, two being marked against each. Hengney was on the slab and, considering the strength of the team against whom he was pitted, performed very capably.

The line-ups were as follows:
Janesville: Pire, ss; Sullivan, 2b; Hengney, 1b; MacDonald, 3b; Eckert, lf; Berger, p; Green, cf; Owen, cf; Silverthorn, Brown and Pire, c; Stoughton: Malibu, cf; Gill, rf; Armstrong, 3b; Newell, cf; Cornell, ss; Fack, p; Higlow, 2b; Theobald, 1b; Rowe, lf.

The score:

Stoughton 3 10 9

White Sox Won.
The Janesville White Sox took a one-sided victory from the Janesville Tigers yesterday afternoon, winning, 11 to 1, in their first game this season. Three home runs were made by White Sox batters, Campbell, Muenchow and Otto slugging the sphere for four bases. Campbell, who pitched for the "white horse," fanned out sixteen men and allowed but one hit. He was given splendid support by the rest of his team. The batteries: Sox, Campbell and Muenchow; Tigers, Brown and Culbert.

Moore Defeated Gazette.
Lodge No. 107, Loyal Order of Moose, of this city, have organized a game ball team and played their first game Sunday morning with the Gazette team. The Moose nine won the victory by the score of 14 to 13. Neither team had a full nine present and recruited members from players practicing at Athletic park. The Gazette players made eleven runs in the first inning but could not keep up the pace. M. Hayes featured in the game with heavy work with the stick, knocking a home-run drive into the pond with two homers on bases. He also batted out a clean two-bagger.

The Moose team has leased a clubhouse to all teams in the city or out of town for games. L. Fiske, 20, South Main street, is their manager. Whirlwinds vs. Sox Wonders. Serious charges against the "Whirlwind" team of this city are made by the "White Sox Wonders," who say that the Whirlwinds have quit two games in succession, which the two teams have been scheduled to play. Both nines are composed of young players and it is alleged that the Whirlwinds quit at the end of the first inning yesterday in order to keep their record clean. The White Sox Wonders will clash with the Footville Tigers tomorrow at Footville, Britt and Blandford will be the Janesville batteries and Day will pitch for Footville.

Parkers Play Beloit.
The Parker Pen team of this city will meet the Beloit Moose tomorrow afternoon at Yost's park. Butters and Abraham are slated to do the twirling for the local team with Hallen at the receiving end. Osgood, Brower and Todish are the Beloit batteries.

Ready For 500-Mile Sweepstakes Race, Indianapolis, Ind., May 29.—All is in readiness for the 500-mile international Sweepstakes race to be decided on the Indianapolis Motor Speedway tomorrow.

The two-and-a-half-mile track event is in fine condition, the additional grandstands are completed and the two-seater contestants have their cars tuned up and ready for the best of which they are capable.

The practice work augurs well for the smashing of records. Practically every leading make of machine, both American and foreign, will be represented in the contest. Many bets are already being posted and thousands of dollars will change hands on the results of the great race.

Five teams rank in the favorite end of the betting, the Benz, Fiat, Lenoir, National and Marmon. The Simplex, and one of two other makes are also well thought of by the talent.

A most complete scoring and announcing system is ready for the race, and more than one hundred men will be employed to keep accurate accounting of the cars in their flights around the brick course.

The large number of entries and the size of the stake—the winner will receive $25,000—combine to give promise of the most notable automobile speed event ever held in the United States.

Among the leading drivers who will pilot the racing machines are Harry Grant, winner of two Vanderbilt Cup races; Kuttner, who captured the Tiedeman Trophy at Savannah last November; De Palma, Strans, Diabrow, Hoar, Bruce-Brown, Dawson, Lytle and others whose names are familiar on both sides of the Atlantic.

In anticipation of the race Indianapolis has suddenly become the Mecca of the automobilists of the country, and every hour brings more in multitudes and on trains. Present indications are that fully 100,000 visitors will witness the race. The gates at the track will open at 6:30 o'clock tomorrow morning and the big race will start promptly at ten o'clock.

SHALL WOMEN VOTE?

A bill providing for woman suffrage has passed the Wisconsin legislature and the question now goes to the people as a constitutional amendment, where it will doubtless pass, as all amendments do, for the reason that people who favor them work and vote for them, while the great majority are so indifferent that they take no interest in the matter.

It is safe to assume that Wisconsin women will have the legal right to vote, within the next two years, and the little group of women who have been clamoring for suffrage, will be satisfied.

The average man, if he takes interest enough in the matter to give it any thought, does not favor the question, because he believes that it is beyond the natural sphere of the wife and mother, and would contribute nothing to either welfare or happiness.

The average woman of domestic taste, filling the sacred office of homemaker, is of the same opinion. As the result of this united sentiment, on the part of so large a constituency, it is a question whether women have been benefitted by being given the right of suffrage.

The experience of Denver, at the last election, demonstrated that women are no more honest in politics than men, and of no more loyalty alive to a sense of moral obligation.

The city of Denver has long been under the domination of corporate power, as is well known by people who have taken an interest in Judge Lindsey and the fight he has made against the "Jungle and the beast."

Two questions, which were vital to the morality of the city, were submitted at the last election. One was whether or not the city should rid itself of the octopus; the other, whether or not the saloon should be abolished. The women were out in force, many of them working for money, and both questions were carried by the interests, by a large majority.

When President Taft was asked for his opinion of woman suffrage he said that he was in favor of it if the women wanted it, but his answer implied a doubt as to the desire of the great army of American women.

The agitators which have come to us from across the water are poor representatives of American womanhood, as well as of the English sisters which they claim to represent, and so long as the home continues to be the bulwark of a nation's strength, the demand for universal suffrage will be largely confined to this class of agitators.

NO PLACE LIKE HOME.

Janesville is a city of homes. By that is meant the majority of the residents of the community own the homes they live in. There is, perhaps, no city of the same size in the state where there are more renting houses than Janesville. The need of such accommodations is felt greatly and each new resident encounters the same difficulty in finding a location for himself and family.

A keen observer of business conditions is authority for the statement that nearly every moderate sized town and village in the central states actually needs houses to quarter its people. The boom in far distant land schemes, now on the wane, has taken money away from home, the westerner investing in the east, and the easterner in the west. There is a lure about things distant that the average man finds it hard to resist. "Distance lends enchantment," especially when properly played up by the skillful advertising writer working for an ingenious land promoter.

No one can deny the wisdom of land investments when the investor buys land for a home for cultivation and actual development. But much of the money placed in circulation by land schemes during the last two or three years has gone into property which the buyer knew nothing about beyond what he read in a prospectus. "This sort of investment," as a rule, is gone forever, and the experience is expensive.

Now that the land man has harvested his crop it is time for every community to get back to first principle, to develop the home places, to build houses and improve the farms and promote the welfare of the home community. Money invested in a home can not get away, but into farm improvements it will return dividends. "Truly, 'there's no place like home,'" when it comes to buying by safely the savings that are to provide for a rainy day. Every move that tends to make the home community better is a move in the right direction.

Get a home—at home!

Rock river has claimed another victim. Each year the river claims its toll and the sorrow and grief occasioned by the last year's drowning is always forgotten before the next summer season comes round. One way to avoid the fatalities is by the establishment of a municipal bath house where an attendant can be on hand at all times to prevent such bad accidents. It is worth considering.

Several bills in the legislature relative to the government of cities throughout the state will bear inspection if passed. One in particular affects the fire and police departments in all cities and gives to the fire and police commissions absolute power as to fixing salaries and such matters.

Tomorrow is Memorial day and everyone should not fail to pay tribute to the departed heroes of the long struggle of the Sixties. It is a fitting day on which to strew flowers and otherwise show respect at the graves of the men who died that their country might be one and united.

Congress is still grinding out legislation or talking of it, which is the same thing. Some day they will get down to good, real hard work and then matters will hum down in Washington. However, that will be after the senate gets down to business.

Governor McGovern is to visit Janesville on July 3d, 4th and 5th, as the guest of the city at their monster military celebration. There will also be others of prominence in the state and the nation who will be here, which all will add to the occasion.

May has certainly been a great growing month and with reasonable weather for the rest of the summer the crops should be so good that all fear of the Canadian reciprocity measure would be lost sight of by the farmers generally.

Janesville has a baseball team this summer that is struggling hard to popularize the game. It needs the support of the fans to make it a financial success, and from the class of ball that is being played they should be given it.

It looks as though the present fire and police commission was being organized with a view of doing something towards backing up the police department in their endeavor of doing their duty.

The purchase of the fair grounds park by the Park Association means that another playground has been added to the city that will in time become a valuable asset to the community.

As was expected, the supreme court today handed down that long-expected tobacco trust decision, and meanwhile the Standard Oil trust continues to plan for its dissolution.

It really looks as though Janesville is going to have a Fourth of July celebration this year that is going to be a steam-windler, from Monday morning until Wednesday night.

Everyone really expected the heat wave to be broken by decoration day, but it is really refreshing to have the change if it is only to be for a few hours or days.

Where He Was Gray.

A young man of 83 summers, whose hair is still brown, met the other day a friend much younger, but whose hair is quite white. "What is the reason," said the latter, "that you do not grow gray?" "Oh," replied the first, "that is easily explained. I have the gray matter on my brain, instead!"

"The carpenter is driving some nails into a plank; the outer's blithely striving to clean a charger's flank; the baseball artist pitches, the farmer plows for riches, the farmer hires man's digging THE WORKERS digches, or toiling at a crank. The sailor flies his bow-tails and shines up tarry ropes; the baker cooks his doughnuts, the grocer sells his soap; some chaps are busy clerking, or engine levers jerking, and other men are working, producing white men's hopes. I took upon my neighbors, and have now faith in man; each busy at his labor, and doing what he can; to be forever doing, achieving and pursuing, assuaging want and lowering—that is the only plan. But now the world spellbinder appears upon the scene; he grasches tuck and griddle with three and awful noise; he makes the tollers weary of work that once seemed glory; he springs some foolish theory; he rambles in his bean. The talkers, O the talkers, who rant and prouette! Dischargers and mockers of all who toil and sweat! They keep the welkin dented, and all their noise is vented to make men discontented and sore, already yet!"

Fully Informed.

"Is this Mr. Walsingham's office?" asked the gentlemanly solicitor, as he passed before the dignified old man who sat at the only desk in the room.

"Yes, sir."
"Are you Mr. Walsingham?"
"No, I'm just an inquisitive young scamp who has come in to paw over his papers, read his private correspondence and smoke a cigar that I have taken out of his vest pocket."

Tree Owns Land It Stands On.

In Athens, Ga., there is an old oak tree at least 200 years old, which bears the distinction of owning the land upon which it stands. This tree stands on land that formerly belonged to Col. William H. Jackson. He was so fond of the tree that when he died a deed was found that deeded the tree to itself.

Eagle Carried Off Lobster.

An eagle measuring four feet from tip to tip swooped down on a clam bake being held at Highland Lake, near Winnetka, Conn., and called away with a lobster in its talons. The lobster was in a pan ready to be put on the fire. While the eagle was devouring the prey in a tree a half mile away, a shot ended its life.

Heart to Heart

Talks.

By EDWIN A. NYE.

LEAVING THE FARM.

"Well," said an old farmer friend of mine, "I have sold the old place, and mother and I will enjoy ourselves the balance of our days."

"Good," I said. And yet—

I wondered if my friend might not be disappointed. As for mother, she will do fairly well. She will have her housekeeping and sewing and that sort. But—

What will the old man do?

For years the old couple have gone early to bed, to rise early and work hard almost every hour of the day, and it is not easy to change the habits of a lifetime.

I fancy at first the old people will have eaten their breakfast before most of the townsfolk are out of bed. It will be a long time for pa from breakfast to dinner and longer from dinner to supper.

There are but few chores to do in town.

The town people will be too busy to stop and chat with the old gentleman. He may try to read some, but he has not formed the habit of continued reading, and he will soon tire.

The change is hard on him.

I know him so well I know that to break up the routine of the farm duties will give him both a mental and physical shock. I am afraid he will lose his impetus.

And then he may worry.

He will come to fret, I fear, because of lack of incentive, because of his empty hands.

There are few things more touching than to see a fine old fellow who has fairly earned his chance to rest and enjoy, who has long looked forward to his day of relaxation, going about restless and dissatisfied.

In his case it would have been better to stay on the farm.

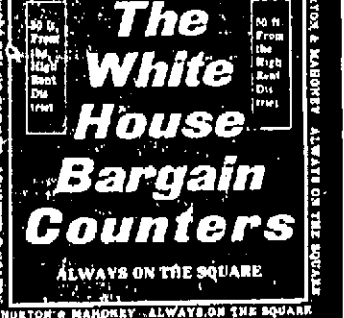

If my friend had built a modern house on the old place and turned the farm over to a son or to a good tenant it might have been better for him.

Departure from old habits and surroundings at his time of life is perilous.

The change is too radical.

Of course there are many who retire from the farm and adapt themselves to the new conditions, but some will always pine, and I fear my fine old friend is one.

I hope not.

Eloquent Addition.
Sanpinto went to inspect the splendid monument of a tomb which he had erected to the memory of his dead wife, but did not like the inscription, "Here she sleeps," thinking it said too little. The sculptor suggested that he might add something else, whereupon Sanpinto said: "Well, then, put 'Sat! Do not awaken her!'"—La Caricaturista.

In other words, he invested $20,000 and received $4,200. In interest and $1,700. The final dividends, total $12,500. M'GOVERN IS TO BE IN JANSVILLE FOR BIG CELEBRATION

GOVERNOR ACCEPTS INVITATION OF THE GENERAL COMMITTEE
TO ATTEND MILITARY
DEMONSTRATION.

COMMITTEE ENLARGED

Secretary Lane of the Industrial and Commercial Club and Mayor Nichols Added to General Committee.

Governor Francis McGovern, chief executive of Wisconsin, will be the guest of the joint committee of the Industrial and Commercial Club and the United Spanish War Veterans during the big military celebration to be held here July 2nd, 4th and 5th. Chairman Carl Duschholz and Edward H. Factor of the United Spanish War Veterans visited Madison on Saturday last and formally tendered the Governor the invitation which he accepted.

Whether the Governor will deliver an address on that day or not is uncertain as yet, as he stated that if the legislature did not address amount of work for him to finish and he would not have time to prepare an address. However, it is probable he will give a talk in the Court House park on the afternoon of the fourth.

The committee also had a long talk with Colonel George Joachim of the First regiment of Wisconsin Infantry, and he offered many suggestions as to the encampment of the troops here and will also come to Jansville to aid in organizing the forces and arranging for the sham battle.

At the meeting of the general committee it was decided to make several changes in the assignment of work. Mr. Lane, secretary of the Industrial Club, was made a member of the general committee and assigned to the chairmanship of the transportation committee which will arrange for the special troop trains and special excursions last will be run from Milwaukee, Madison, and other points.

It was also decided to put the entire charge of the concessions in the hands of Bart J. Rudolph of Milwaukee, who has had considerable experience in this work, having handled several street fairs in Milwaukee, Elka Carlvala, and has had considerable experience in the same work at the State Fair. Mr. Rudolph will have entire charge of the concession rights and all communications will be handled by him. His address is Jansville about the middle of the month to complete his arrangements.

Mayor John C. Nichols, chairman of the reception committee, was also made a member of the general committee, thus making the committee a general one composed of members of the Industrial and Commercial Club, city officers, and members of the Harry L. Clifford Camp of the United Spanish War Veterans.

It was decided to open headquarters in the Myers Theatre block on June 15th and from that time on there will be something doing until after the celebration on July 5th. Already programs from special privileges and concessions have been received, showing that the affair is attracting considerable attention throughout the country and assuring a large attendance.

The finance committee is still short a thousand dollars of the sum they ought to raise and it is hoped that this can be attended to before June 1st, as the work of making the actual appropriations for the handling of the soldiers must be taken up at once. Battery A of Milwaukee will be here and have sent their list of food needed for themselves and horses and will go into camp at once on arrival.

While Adjutant General Boardman was not seen by the special committee on Saturday last during their visit in Madison, he has signified his intention of being present and will doubtless be on hand the morning of July 3rd to aid in handling the ten companies of Infantry and battery that will be present to make this the biggest military pageant ever held in Jansville.

Two of the largest troop trains that have gone out of Milwaukee since the Civil War days will bring the companies of soldiers from that city and will pick up the Whitewater and Ft. Atkinson companies on their way here.

CONGRESSMAN COOPER SEEKS LOCATION FOR A CULTURE STATION NEAR THIS CITY

Bill Introduced in Congress To Make the Appropriation Necessary For the Proposed Station.

On May 4, Congressman Henry Allen Cooper of this state, introduced a bill in the lower house of congress for the purpose of appropriating the sum of twenty-five thousand dollars for the purpose of purchasing ground and establishing a fish culture station at or near this city.

The bill bears the number 10650 and was referred to the committee on Merchant Marine and Fisheries and it will have a hearing in the committee and if passed will go to the Senate for confirmation. According to advisers from Washington it has a good chance to pass.

If the measure becomes a law the establishment of a fish culture station at or near Jansville will be the only government fish culture station in the state. Just where it is to be located is not yet decided, although persons interested in the measure have several sites in view.

It will be a great thing for Jansville, and the city is to be congratulated and Congressman Cooper warmly thanked for his efforts in this matter. It would do much to advertise the city throughout the country and at the same time be of great benefit to the city itself. The bill as presented is as follows:

"To establish a fish-culture station at or near the city of Jansville, in the State of Wisconsin.

"Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That the Secretary of Commerce, and he is hereby authorized and directed to establish a fish-culture station on Rock River at or near the city of Jansville, in the State of Wisconsin, including purchase of site, construction of buildings and ponds, and equipment, at some suitable place, to be selected by him, at a cost not to exceed the sum of twenty-five thousand dollars."

DROWNS BEFORE EYES OF COMPANIONS NEAR SAND BAR YESTERDAY

Louis Pufahl, Aged 17, Wades Into Deep Water and is Swept Under by Current at Chautauqua Grounds.

Being unable to swim and stepping into water above his depth at the sand bar near the Chautauqua grounds, Louis Pufahl, aged 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Pufahl, who live at the golf grounds, drowned yesterday afternoon about 3:45 before the eyes of his two companions who were powerless to help him. The police of the city were notified and after dragging the spot for several hours, the body of the unfortunate was recovered about nine o'clock last night.

In the company of two other youths the Pufahl boy left the house yesterday afternoon, early, with the intention of bathing in the river. The place where the drowning occurred is a particularly dangerous and treacherous one and fatal accidents have happened there in the past. The water is shallow out to a certain point where it drops off to a depth of about fifteen or twenty feet. The undercurrent is said to be very strong at this place. While his companions were on the bank, Pufahl waded out and the first that was known of his plight was when his cries for help were heard.

The older of the boys made an effort to reach the drowning but later told the police that the body never came to the surface after it sank. When they found that it was too late to effect a rescue his companions hurried to the home of Mrs. Melvin, near the river, and the police were notified. After preparing the necessary apparatus for dragging the river, one boat containing Chief of Police Appley and Officer Sam Brown, and three other parties in boats went to the scene. The river had all around the place was dragged and at about eight-thirty the chief and Sam Brown returned to the city to obtain some better apparatus. But a short while after they had left, Albert Nott and Frank Hoesel succeeded in locating the body and bringing it to the surface within a few feet of the spot where the drowning occurred. The body was brought to the city in the boat in which Mr. Nott had worked.

The drowning is a particularly and case. The boy was a member of the Froshman class in the local high school, had played football with the eleven and was well known about the city among the younger people. It was learned this morning that he had recently made arrangements to play with the band here on Memorial day and had only yesterday procured a uniform. He had been taking lessons on the life for some time and had looked forward to the time when he was to become a real member of the band and it was just at the time when he was to have his hopes realized that he was drowned.

His mother and father are well known to the people of the city, especially to members of the Country club, of which they are the caretakers. It was announced by the officers of the club this morning that the festivities of the opening of the season at the club, which were to have taken place tomorrow, will be postponed. No definite date has been set for the opening.

The funeral will occur on Wednesday afternoon at 2:30.

JUNE BRIDES WILL ABOUT THIS YEAR

Judging From Run On County Clerk's Office For the Last Two Days—Records Smashed.

After a long period of quiet in the office of the county clerk the April seems to have been broken. The applications for marriage licenses ended Saturday and up until three o'clock today number seven. Whether it is a case of a peculiar coincidence or whether the approach of June with its alluring charms has started the annual marriage-making run, is a matter of conjecture. But at any rate, where hitherto during the year, they have drifted in by ones and twos, the last two days have smashed all the marks for the year and a goodly number of June brides in this county may safely be predicted.

The following took out licenses Saturday: James C. Ludden, Marie E. McCarthy, Edgerton; William F. Manz and Rhoda Green, Jansville; Rudolph E. Schuster and Ora M. Griffith, Evansville; William H. Drew and Margaret I. Gallagher.

Those issued today were Carl L. Lehn, Abilene and Jennie M. Nelson, Porter; Paul Dallmann and Edna Yesko, Edgerton; Will L. Ullius and Laura E. Knapp, Jansville; Laurin E. Blanchard, Milwaukee and Ruby M. Downs, Beloit.

WAGON LOAD OF JAGS AT COUNTY BASTILE

Members of "Keg Party," and Three Others, Six in All, Sentenced in Municipal Court Today For Drunkenness.

Jansville's police court officials this morning furnished a wagonload of "jags" for Sheriff E. M. Kinnison this morning, six prisoners, one of them a woman, being taken to the county jail to serve out sentences for drunkenness. A seventh brought up on the same charge had the funds to pay a fine of two dollars and costs and was released.

In the list this morning were Ed. Griffin, Clement Simmons, and Freda Lee, who were captured by the police on Saturday afternoon while holding a "Keg party" on the river bank near the County brewery. The festivities were at their height when the officers came to make the arrests, but one, a negro, ran at the approach of the police and was not caught. The woman, who claims to have come here from Missouri, was given a fine of $3 and costs but was unable to pay and went down for five days. Griffin and Simmons will be guests of the sheriff for six days for being unable to contribute $4 and costs each toward the support of the municipality.

Hans Gilbert, who came here from Orfordville Saturday to see a local doctor, took liquid refreshment in place of food and in more copious measure than he could stand. He paid a fine of $2 and costs or $3 for regaining his sobriety this morning. John Hoesel, with whom the court was lenient because he had not been drunk previously for three years when arranged on Saturday morning, could not appreciate what had been done for him and was another prisoner at the bar of justice this morning. He was given five days flat and a fine of $5 and costs or five days additional. Joe Myers was sentenced for five days in jail, being unable to pay a $2 fine.

MADERO NIPS PLOT OF ASSASSINATION

TWO ARRESTS MADE OF MEN WHO TRIED TO BRIBE OROZCO AND VILLOJEN.

PROMINENT MEN ARE IN NET

American and Mexican Are Accused of Aiding to Overthrow and Assassinate Rebel Leader—Money Paid to Boer Officer.

El Paso, Tex., May 29.—There has been uncovered a conspiracy to murder Francisco I. Madero. W. P. Dunn, an American, and Daniel De Villares, a Boer, living in Mexico, have been arrested. Other arrests of the higher-up variety are expected to follow in Mexico City.

The arrests followed what is believed to have been an effort on the part of certain members of the Cientifico party to overthrow Madero.

Do Villares and Dunn during the last ten days, it is alleged, have been attempting to influence Gen. Benjamín Vilhoen, an American citizen and former Boer commander, and Gen. Pascual Orozco to desert Madero's standard.

Instead of yielding, the two chiefs stoutly encouraged the conspirators until evidence could be collected to make the arrests. Dunn, who was arrested in Monterey by order of Madero, left here three days ago with the alleged purpose of obtaining funds for Orozco and Vilhoen.

Claimed Aid of Figueroa.

Both alleged conspirators were in constant telegraphic communication with Andres Garza Galan of Ciudad Porfirio Diaz, who is said to be one of the leaders of the Cientifico party in the state of Coahuila. Villares and Dunn, in their talk with Vilhoen and Orozco, asserted they had the cooperation of General Figueroa, the rebel leader of the south, and General Trevino, commander of the federal forces in Monterey, had promised assistance when the new revolt began.

In messages from Senor Galan to the conspirators the existence of a plot against the life of Madero was disclosed.

General Vilhoen declared that $25,000 had been promised him if he would participate in the conspiracy. General Orozco, he said, was to get any amount he named and was to be chief of the military zone comprehended by the northern states of Mexico.

Prominent Men Involved. General Vilhoen asserted the most prominent Cientificos were mentioned to him by both De Villares and Dunn in their conversations, especially, Rosendo Pinedo, leader of the Cientifico party in the Mexican congress. The plot, it is said, was declared, was to put Pinedo in the presidency.

In their efforts to get evidence against Dunn and De Villares, General Vilhoen accepted $480 and General Pascual Orozco $200, which was placed in the funds of the provisional government. The steps taken by Vilhoen to encourage those who were attempting to bribe him were known to Senor Madero and the campaign against them was carefully mapped out within the last ten days.

Rebels to Shoot Britisher. Mexico City, May 29.—William Niven, a British subject, aged twenty-seven, the son of Prof. William Niven, one of the best geologists and ethnologists in Mexico, was killed at Cuernavaca by the rebel chiefs, Asensio and Zapata now there, and unless the efforts of Americans here are successful, young Niven will be shot. Orders to this effect have been issued by the rebel chiefs who charge him with sending out a story of a quarrel between Zapata and Asensio.

Niven is the correspondent of the Mexican Herald and the Herald Mexicano, both of which printed the story of the quarrel between the rebel leaders, which is known to be absolutely true.

can Clear Company, the American Stogie Company and MacAndrews & Forbes Company were unlawful combinations and restrained them from engaging in interstate or foreign commerce. From this, the defendants appealed to the Supreme Court. So did the government. The government objected because the Conley-Pell Company and the individual defendants, headed by James H. Duke, were not made parties to the conspiracy to restrain and because all were not held to be attempting to monopolize.

The circuit court decreed that the American Tobacco Company, the American Stogie Company, the American Clear Company, P. Lorillard Company, R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Company, Blackwell's Durham Tobacco Company and the Conley-Pell Company held shares in specified corporations and enjoined them from acquiring the plants or business or voting the shares of and from exercising control over the "subsidiary" companies, and enjoined the "subsidiary" companies from permitting control. Both the defendants and the government appealed. The latter objected principally because the Imperial Tobacco Company, the British American Tobacco Company and the United Clear Stores Company were not included among the "subsidiary" companies, and because the holding companies were not prohibited from collecting dividends from the "subsidiary" companies.

The appeals were argued before the Supreme Court, first in January, 1910, and the second time in January, 1911. Prominent attorneys appeared. For the government Attorney General Wickersham and his special assistant, J. C. McInnes, addressed the court. For the American Tobacco Companies there appeared John G. Johnson of Philadelphia, Delaney Noyl and James Parker, of New York, while William H. Hornblower, of New York, argued for the Imperial Tobacco Company, and Sol. M. Stroock, of New York, for the United Clear Stores Company.

It is expected that some of the contestants will make new speed and endurance records. The United States Signal Corps is represented at this meeting by Captain Arthur S. Cowan, U. S. BUSY SESSION FOR COUNCIL TONIGHT

Numerous Matters of Business to be Discussed by City Fathers at Regular Session at City Hall.

Indications are that the session of the common council this evening will be a busy one. There are numerous matters of business to be attended to, including many small items of business. One of the principal matters discussed will probably be with regard to the bridge across the river at Racine street. The city engineer, C. V. Korch, has prepared the new plans and specifications for the construction of the bridge and these will be presented tonight. Some action also may be taken on the bond of the Central States Bridge Co., of Indianapolis, for the work. Harry O. Nowlan's bond and oath for his appointment as commissioner of the fire and police board has been filed and this will probably be accepted. Like action is looked for on the quit claim deeds of C. S. and C. W. Jackson for Lots A and B in Jackson & Smith's addition and the deed from the Janesville Water company for the land to be used as the west approach of the proposed Racine street bridge. Petitions have been received from G. Knudson of Beloit and J. L. Heister asking permission to operate popcorn and peanut wagons on the street, the latter agreeing to pay a license fee of $20 per month, and a communication has been received from the American Bank Note company of New York asking permission to destroy some old engravings of bonds which have been annulled. Bids from three cement contractors for sidewalk work will be opened. Besides these there is a long list of bills and the salary list to be passed upon.

Semi-Centennial of Philippi Battle.

Philippi, W. Va., May 29.—The great Home-Coming week, arranged by the local board of trade and the citizens of Philippi in general, to commemorate the 50th anniversary of the first land engagement of the Civil War, which took place at Philippi, began this morning under the most auspicious conditions. The town is full of visitors from all parts of the State and the crowd is constantly swelled by new arrivals.

The official celebration began this morning with a military salute and later in the day a grand mass meeting was held, presided over by Judge Alton C. Dayton, Mayor J. Blackburn Ware welcomed the visitors and J. Hop Woods extended greetings to the old soldiers in attendance. The response was made by Dr. G. W. H. Kempe of Muncie, Ind. The program for the rest of the day included a balloon ascension, a band concert and several addresses.

Special programs have been arranged for every day of the week, especially for Decoration Day and for Saturday, June 3, the closing day of the celebration, which is the actual anniversary of the engagement at Philippi. One day has been set apart for the old soldiers, one for the ladies, and one for the native West Virginians who came back to the "Mountain State" on this occasion.

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON.

THE whole secret of remaining young, in spite of grey hairs, is the maintenance of harmony in the soul.—"And let your heart grow cold and you may carry love and cheerfulness into the teens of your second century if you can last so long."—Oliver Wendell Holmes.

I met, the other day, an old lady who at eighty-seven is still delightful to look at, still delightful to be with, and apparently still delightful company for herself.

I asked her to tell me the secret of growing old so gracefully.

She hesitated the compliment, of course, but when I insisted, she said thoughtfully: "Well, my dear, if I have any secret at all it's that I began to grow old years and years ago. That is, began to prepare for it. I've been building resources for old age within myself for the last sixty years almost, so that's why I'm so happy now. It's only the people who fight old age who find it so terrible."

Isn't that a beautiful philosophy?

If you want to be happy when you're old, begin building resources for happiness inside yourself right now.

Of course, many people say, "I hope I never shall live to be old." I'd rather die when my usefulness is past. That's all very fine, but as it happens, most of us don't decide that matter for ourselves, and the man who thinks old age is worse than death and who can't believe he will ever live to be old, may be the very man who will linger on, "the last leaf upon the tree," years after his contemporaries have been gathered to their fathers.

You or I may have fifteen or twenty years of life left.

Are we, like my sweet old friend, building for it now?

Building what?

Well, love for one thing—the love of others for us and in our own hearts the habit of loving others easily.

The habit of thought, for another thing—not just desultory, dribbling, impressionable dreaming, but real sustained thinking, that will be a resource to us when many of our present pleasures and activities shall be denied us.

The ability to be happy with little things, for another item—of really enjoying a warm, pleasant day in spring, the first robin's song, the sight of an apple tree in bloom, the cheerful sound of the hardy-gurdy, the smell of a rose, the warmth of a friendly greeting.

The habit of serenity, for another thing—not just the outward control that cloaks a passionate inner revolt, but the real sweet soul serenity, the kind that says:

"If there's no sun, I still can have the moon;
If there's no moon, the stars my need supply;
And if they fall I have my evening lamp;
Or, lampless, there's my trusty candle dip;
And if the dip goes out, my couch remains;
Where I may sleep and dream there's light again."

"And suppose," you say, "after I have made all this preparation for old age, suppose that I never live to be old at all."

Well, my friend, what then?

Will you have any reason to regret your building?

Myself, I don't think so.

BEGIN YOUR CAMPAIGN AT HOME.

There are a lot of good people in this world who believe they have a mission to perform, and that that mission is to make their neighbors good. They have only focused their vision in the wrong direction. It was Robert Louis Stevenson who said:

"There is an idea abroad among people that they should make their neighbors good. One person I have to make good—myself. But my duty to my neighbor is much more nearly expressed by saying that I have to make him happy if I may."

Most of us sit off and in critical mood dissect the lives of others.

Or, at any rate, we try to dissect them. We think that from our position we view the workings of their lives just as we do the circus performance given for so much per head. Nothing of the kind. We see none of the workings of the lives of others. What we see is only the reflection of a few thoughts and habits of life. So in viewing the lives of others our opportunities are really very limited.

Being thus limited there is no chance for us to know anything about the real lives of others. The only effective campaign we ever wage in this world are campaigns against self. The biggest task a man will ever undertake is that of making himself the right type of a man. The biggest fight any of us will ever have is the fight waged to keep down our own frailties and to build up our strength. As Stevenson says, there is only one person we have to make good and that is ourself. The trouble is that the ego is so big in most of us that we cannot see our duty. We, being frightened as for our faults and shortcomings of others are concerned, fail to see the need of real work nearer at home. And so we fall in our own great duty in life.

In seeing our duty to make ourselves as good as possible we are performing the highest duty to our neighbors. Our example in world-wide is worth all the sermons that could be preached in a lifetime. One good man in a community can do more for the uplift of that community by living in his daily life the precepts of brotherly love, than can a dozen reformers working through the years of a lifetime. Remember, the good man, not the goody-goody man.

It is the latter type of men who spoil the effect of the work of most of the thoroughly conscientious people of the world. The goody-goody man is a negative quantity in any community because no one has any real faith in him. He is a stumbling block because he gives an impression of insincerity.

Each of us has failings that need attention. Each has faults that should be whipped out of our character and overcome. And this is our duty and our task in life—to so live that we shall be a stumbling block in no one's way, but that we may be an inspiration for many.

When we have done that we have gone to the extent of our possibilities in the work of making over the life of our neighbors.

UNUSUAL SALADS.

There are any number of salads given in cook books, but those that are really prized are often found from our friends. Fruit salads may take the place of dessert. They are much more wholesome than the rich combinations commonly served.

Donbon Salad.—Shred small-sized balls of pinonuts cheese, roll in chopped pecans and press half a nut into the ball. Arrange on lettuce leaves and serve with mayonnaise dressing.

Hazelnut Salad.—Shred and blanch one pound of hazelnuts and grind half of them in a meat grinder. Grate half a pineapple, mix with the nuts a tablespoonful of sherry and the juice of half a lemon and a tablespoonful of powdered sugar. Let stand an hour and then add a cake of cream cheese. Mix well and make into balls with a whole nut meat in the center. Heap on lettuce and cover with mayonnaise dressing.

College Salad With Horse-radish Dressing.—Mix together a cup of strong cheese, three nonfat cheese and ten olives, chopped; three sweet red peppers, salt and paprika, and enough sweet cream to mold well. Make into balls with butter paste, garnish with strips of pimento and pour over a French dressing after arranging the cheese on lettuce. Serve with horse-radish sauce. Mix four tablespoonfuls of grated horse-radish with one tablespoonful each of lemon juice and vinegar, and three tablespoonfuls of cream, whipped. Season with salt and pepper.

A salad that is nice to serve with game is orange and celery. Cut the oranges in slices lengthwise and then in halves; arrange on lettuce leaves with a garnish of fringed celery. Pour over a French dressing.

Never put any kind of dressing on a crisp green vegetable until it is ready to serve, as it will wilt and lose its attractiveness.

The Star of Hope

By Byron Williams

THE RIVER RUNS ON THROUGH THE CHANGES OF YEARS.

A tinkling of cymbal, a murmur of flute—A babbling brook, a mirror by night—It bubbles along to be just in the hills in rain, or in winter, when covered with ice.

It runs to the ocean where great liners ply. It cautions along ever willing and true, As constant and sure as the blue of the sky.

And Hope, like the river, runs on through the years, A beacon of glory to deeds of renown, In sunlight or darkness, in sorrow or joy, 'Tis Hope, buoyant hope, that is worn as our crown.

No matter what failure, no matter what loss, The rosy aurora of Hope shows the way. It beckons us on like the lamplights of home, To peace and content at the close of the day.

Oh, Hope, thou hast taken the aloe from the desert, Thou hast wiped away tears from the eyes of the weeping.

And ravens and woes of a world with thee, Ah, constant and true thou hast been to us all— A faith in the desert, a spring in the sun, A factor so helpful that life would be vain, If Hopeless our journey throughout it were run.

MILWAUKEE TO HAVE MOTHERS' CONGRESS

First Meeting of the Wisconsin Congress of Mothers to Be Held During June in Cream City.

Milwaukee, Wis., May 29.—The first annual meeting of the Wisconsin Congress of Mothers will be held in Milwaukee at the State Normal School, on June 9th and 10th, 1911.

Several interesting speakers will appear on the program. Friday evening the address of welcome will be made by Carroll D. Pearce, Sup't. of Schools of Milwaukee, and the Response by Mrs. J. H. Sullivan, President of the Wisconsin Congress of Mothers. Mrs. Mary D. Bradford, Sup't. of Schools of Fond du Lac, will deliver an address on "Fundamentals in the Moral Instruction of Children."

Saturday morning the business session and election of officers will be followed by a luncheon at the Normal School.

Since the special function of the Congress is the establishment of Parent-Teacher Organizations in schools, Saturday afternoon will be devoted in part to reports of such Associations in Wisconsin. Mrs. Orville T. Wright of Chicago, Chairman of the National Congress of Mothers, will speak of what has been accomplished by such organizations in several other states. (It is hoped this will inspire the formation of many Parent-Teacher Associations in this State.)

The concluding address will be made by Miss Little E. Stearns, of the Wisconsin Free Library Commission, "What is Happening to the American Home?" The program will be interspersed with music and gymnastic dancing by school children.

It is a well recognized fact that much of the uplift work done today would be unnecessary if better conditions had surrounded childhood. It is for this and that the Wisconsin Congress of Mothers was organized, and the Board earnestly desires that every parent and every teacher co-operate by attending this first annual meeting June 9th and 10th, and afterwards become a force in his or her community for the conservation of the Nation's greatest asset, the Child.

PRUNES AS "FOOD MEDICINE."

Continually has so long been heaped upon "boarding house prunes" that this very valuable food has been greatly underestimated. Nor is it generally known that in addition to its food value the prune possesses marked efficacy as a "food medicine." Six or eight best quality prunes, soaked in water overnight and eaten uncooked in the morning, will remedy constipation. Persisted in, obstinate cases will yield to this treatment.

LAST OF THE TRIBUNES.

May 29.—It was the Tribune, by the papers since the eighth century, when Henry "The Last" of the "Tribunes" decided that it was time to put a stop to the internal strife of the warring nobles. So on May 29, 1317, a band of warriors he seized the city and began a new deal. Internal wars were put down with an iron hand, the laws were enforced for the poor as well as the rich and prosperity and life was safe for the first time in years. But this state of affairs did not suit the nobles who wanted some excitement, and as there were no base ball games in those days, they started a revolution. Regardless of the fact that the people were enjoying the best government they had known in years, the people were unopposed into the idea that Henry was an upstart (his parents were poor), and that the old game was best. There must have been some trust lawyers in Rome at that period because they got away with the bluff and some months after Henry started housecleaning, a revolution was started and wound up with Henry's turning for the fall. Henry, the people taking for the fall. Henry, where he lost out, as the upshot of his efforts resulted in an assassin puncturing his system full of holes with an Arizona toothpick on Oct. 8, 1354.

SONGS A GREAT AID IN CHRISTIAN WORK

REV. L. A. MCINTYRE DELIVERED SERMON ON "SONGS OF THE BIBLE" LAST EVENING.

BIBLE AND HYMN BOOK

Comprise the Full Equipment For the Christian, the Pastor Stated—Classified Songs Christian Should Sing.

Songs and music and their value were treated by the Rev. L. A. McIntyre last evening at the United Brethren church. The text was taken from the first verse of the one hundred and forty-seventh Psalm: "Praise ye the Lord; for it is good to sing praises unto our God; for it is pleasant and praise is comely."

"I do not know of anything in human history that has been more helpful to the men of all ages than songs. Nothing quickens the blood of the old soldier more than martial music. What is true from a patriotic standpoint is also true from a religious standpoint. Nothing has caused men to feel so near to God as music. In the old service in the Temple of Jerusalem itself they praised and did not only with their lips but with the music of the instruments of that age."

"Of the songs the first is the Song of the New Life, for there is a song by this name. Men in an unregenerate state are plagued with worldly songs—songs that are foolish and some of which it seems to me are hardly worth the time that is spent in writing them. When Jesus Christ takes a hold on your soul you know how that pleasure in these songs leaves you."

"The new song of the Redeemed Soul is the song every Christian brings to sing. It may not always be the same tune or the same words, but every Christian has sung it. David was one of the sweetest singers of Israel, we are told. Throughout the history of that people we find the writers describing the new songs."

"The third song is the song of Victory. I would like to have heard the children of Israel sing the day the Lord delivered them from the bondage of Egypt and brought them safely out of the Red Sea. I have heard a great choir sing and it seemed to me I never heard anything to bring me nearer to Heaven than that, but it does not seem to me that that song could be more beautiful than the one the children of Israel sang. If you have a special victory over sin, sing it out to God."

"Then there is the song of Hope. David again, sang many of these. When the dangers were many David often sang these songs of hope. If you are only of present conditions you would not sing many beautiful things, but this song of Hope is beautiful."

"There is the song of Night. It is very easy to sing when the Victory is on our side. It is hard to sing when in adversity. David was a man who sang when calamity was on him. It takes a man of courage to sing in dark days. The world and the church is in need of those who can sing the Song of Night."

"Last is the Song of the Redeemed. We are not able to sing that fully, but all hope to sing that song in Heaven, for all of us hope to go there and Heaven is the home of Song and praise. The full equipment for a Christian is the Bible first and then a hymn book."

Memorial Exercises. The public schools held memorial exercises on Friday afternoon in the various rooms. There were many visitors present and the programs carried out were splendid and showed considerable preparatory work on the part of teachers and pupils. All were indeed good.

THORNTON FAMILY HAS LEFT THE CITY

Jefferson County Charges Who Have Pestered Poormaster Anderson, Went of Their Own Accord.

Alvin Thornton and family, who have been the cause of some difficulty between Rock and Jefferson counties over their care, have solved a problem for Poormaster Anna Anderson of this city, by taking flight to Sullivan, Wis., within the bounds of the county to which they belong. Thornton and his family were cared for here last winter by Poormaster Anderson and the Associated Charities and then turned over to outside authorities, the woman going to the home of her parents at Oconomowoc and Thornton to Jefferson. They remained there for a time and then Thornton returned here and persuaded his wife to leave the home of her parents to come here. They had almost nothing which to start housekeeping and neighbors helped them out some. Poormaster Anderson notified the Jefferson county poormaster to come and get them and the sheriff of that county notified Mr. Anderson he would come here. He had to postpone the trip here for a week or so, and Thornton was kept at the police station for a day or two. He was released and joined his wife. They sold their furniture and went to Sullivan, without notifying Mr. Anderson. The sheriff of Jefferson county came here day before yesterday and he and Mr. Anderson went to the place where the Thorntons were stopping. It was there learned that the family had left town, thus removing themselves from Mr. Anderson's care.

J. FRANCIS CONNORS WON DIAMOND MEDAL ON SATURDAY LAST

Janesville Musician Wins Signal Honor at the Chicago Musical College Competition.

On Saturday last J. Francis Connors, son of Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Connors of this city, was awarded the "Alexander H. Howell Diamond Medal" over all competitors in the annual contest of the Chicago college. This is the highest honor that can be awarded a student and carries with it exceptional honor of playing at the graduation exercises of the college at the Auditorium with the Thomas Orchestra, the finest musical organization in the west if not in this country.

FRANCIS CONNORS.

Mr. Connors' victory on Saturday is especially gratifying to his friends in so much as for the past three years he has been awarded the gold medal in similar contests and many who heard his playing believed he should have been given the diamond medal rather than the winner. In the contest on Saturday last the contestants all played behind a screen so that none of the judges knew to whom they were awarding the prize.

On June 17, Mr. Connors will play at the Forty Fourth graduation exercises of the Chicago Musical College at the Auditorium, his selection being Liszt's first Concerto for piano and orchestra, accompanied by the Thomas Orchestra.

Those who heard the young musician play here last fall at one of the Apollo Club concerts were delighted with his work and it is probable that he will be heard in concerts here and in Chicago during the coming year. He has already played in concerts with several of the large Chicago orchestras and has had flattering offers for work on the road with several companies.

One of these was an offer at a large salary with the Lillian Russell Opera Company some months ago, which he refused, being desirous to compete again for the diamond medal he won on Saturday last. The victory on Saturday places him among the ranks of the rising young musicians of the middle west and assures his success in the chosen field of music he has adopted as his own.

SPRAINED ANKLE JUMPING FROM BUGGY IN RUNAWAY

Miss Laura Barnes Injured Saturday Afternoon—Horses Started Double Runaway.

Miss Laura Barnes of Whitewater, daughter of the proprietor of the creamery there, sprained her ankle Saturday afternoon and was shaken up and bruised when she jumped from the rig in which she and her brother were riding. The horses attached to a wagon became frightened on West Milwaukee street and Miss Barnes thought best to leave the wagon. It was at first thought she had broken a leg and she was taken into the office of the Wisconsin Cigar Company and a doctor called. Near the corner of Franklin and Milwaukee streets the rig ran into a horse and delivery wagon driven by John Roberts, son of C. B. Roberts, a groceryman. The thrills of Roberts' rig were broken and the horse ran down Milwaukee street, but was stopped by Officer John Brown and Robert Jones. Barnes' horses were stopped by people on the streets.

GRANDSTAND WRECKED BY TORNADO, 29 ARE INJURED

Structure at Granite City, Ill., Blown Over and Plinon Ball Players Beneath Ruins.

Granite City, Ill., May 29.—A cyclone lifted the grandstand in the baseball park here and turned it over and twenty-nine persons were seriously hurt, two of whom will probably die. Thirteen of the injured are members of the opposing ball teams, Granite City and Miller Bros. of St. Louis. When the storm broke the spectators fled and the ball players sought refuge in the dressing room beneath the grandstand. When they awoke they fled again. As they emerged the wind lifted the grandstand 20 feet from its foundation and landed it upside down upon the baseball players and others, who were pinned beneath the wreckage 20 minutes until hundreds of citizens summoned lifted the stand and released them.

Sidney Magnus, Granite City's pitcher, was fatally injured. Ernest Rohlfson suffered concussion of the brain and may die.

Pekin, Ill., May 29.—A cyclone struck Pekin killing Clyde Baker and Frank Woodley, aged sixteen and thirteen years, respectively, and destroying property estimated at $75,000. Electric Car Strikes Machine at Los Angeles Street Crossing.

Los Angeles, Cal., May 29.—Jerry Kauffmann of Long Beach, three members of his family and W. S. Hollingsworth of Denver, were killed when a city-bound Pacific electric car from Whittier dashed into their automobile as it attempted to cross the tracks near that town. A clump of trees near the Interurban tracks obscured the approaching car and the two vehicles met at terrific speed.

"Then you have got to listen to me, for I'm deadly in earnest. I'm an old, rough, bald-headed fool that don't know much about women—I never thought before I'd ever want to—but you can bet on one thing, I'm square. Anybody in this town will tell you I'm square. They'll tell you that whatever I say goes. I've never run around much with women; somehow I never exactly liked the kind. I've come up against, and maybe they didn't feel any particular interest in me, I didn't cut much shine as a ladies' man, but I reckon now, it's only because the right one hadn't happened along. She is here now, though, all right, and I know it the very first time I set eyes on her. Oh, you roared and tied me all right the first throw. Maybe I did get you and that half-sister mixed up a bit, but just the same you were the one I really wanted. Hope's all right; she's a mighty fine girl, but you are the one for me, Christie. Could you—could you care for such a duffer as I am?"

Her lips were smiling and so were her eyes, but it was a pleading smile. "I don't think it would be so very hard," she admitted, "not if you really wanted me to."

"You know what I mean—that I love you—wish you to be my wife?"

"I supposed that was it—that—that you wanted me."

"Yes, and—and you will love?"

Her head dropped slowly, so slowly he did not realize the significance of the action until her lips touched his hand.

"I do," she said, "you are the best man in the world."

Halfback could not move, could not seem to realize what it all meant. The outcome had been so sudden, so surprising, that all power of expression deserted him. In bewilderment he lifted her face and looked into her eyes. Perhaps she realized—with the swift intuition of a clever woman—the man's perplexity, for instantly she led his mind to other things.

"But let us not talk of ourselves any more, tonight. There is so much I wish to know; so much that ought to be done." She sprang to her feet. "Why, it is almost shameful for us to stay here, selfishly happy, while others are in such trouble. Have they discovered Hope?"

"No; we scoured the whole town and found no trace. Now they are outside on the prairie, but there can be little chance of their picking up a trail before daylight."

"And Hawley?"

"He has vanished also; without doubt they are together. What do you suppose he can want of her? How do you imagine he ever got her to go with him? She isn't that sort of a girl."

She shook her head, shivering a little. "He must have mistaken her for me—perhaps has not even yet discovered his mistake. But what it all means, or how he gained her consent to go with him, I cannot conceive."

be the happiest girl in all the world, I reckon. Oh, what a night this has been! What a wonderful night! It has given me a name, a mother, and the man I love."

He kissed her, not in passion, but in simple tenderness, and as he turned away she sank upon her knees at the window, with head bowed upon the sill. At the door he paused and looked back, and she turned and smiled at him. Then he went out, and she knelt there silently, gazing forth into the dawn, her eyes blurred with tears—facing a new day, and a new life.

CHAPTER XXXIII.

Following the Trail. The withdrawal of the sheriff more fully stimulated Keith to greater activity. It was clearly evident the fugitives were endeavoring with all rapidity possible to get beyond where the hand of law could reach them—their trail striking directly across the plains into the barren southwest was proof of this purpose. Yet it was scarcely likely they would proceed very far in that direction, as such a course would bring them straight into the heart of the Indian country, into greater danger than that from which they fled. Keith felt no doubt that Hawley intended making for Carson City, where he could securely hide the girl, and where he possessed friends to rally to his defense, even an influence over the officers of the law. The one thing which puzzled him most was the man's object in attempting so desperate a venture. Did he know his prisoner was Hope Walcott, or did he still suppose he was running off with Christie MacLaird? Could some rumor of Walcott's appeal to the courts have reached the gambler, frightened him, and caused him to attempt this desperate effort at escape? and did he fear Miss MacLaird with him, hoping to keep her safely concealed until he was better prepared to come out in open fight? If this was the actual state of affairs then it would account for much otherwise hard to explain. The actress would probably not have been missed, or, at least, seriously sought after, until she failed to appear at the theater the following evening. This delay would give the fugitives a start of twenty hours, or even more, and practically assure their safety. Besides, in the light of Walcott's application to the sheriff for assistance, it was comparatively easy to conceive of a valid reason why Hawley should vanish, and desire, likewise, to take Miss MacLaird with him. But there was no apparent occasion for his forcible abduction of Hope. Of course, he might have done so from a suddenly aroused fit of anger at some discovery the girl had made, yet everything pointed rather to a deliberate plan. Both horses and men were certainly waiting there under orders, Hawley's adherents in charge, and every arrangement perfected in advance. Clearly enough the gambler had planned it all out before he ever went to the Trocadero—no doubt the completion of these final arrangements was what delayed his appearance at the hotel. If this was all true, then it must have been Christie, and not Hope, he purposed bearing away with him, and the latter was merely a victim of her masquerade.

What would result when the man discovered his mistake? Such a discovery could not be delayed long, although the girl was quick-witted, and would surely realize that her personal safety depended upon keeping up the deception to the last possible moment. Yet the discovery must finally occur, and there was no guessing what form Hawley's rage would assume when he found himself baffled, and all his plans for a fortune overturned. Keith fully realized Hope's peril, and his own helplessness to serve her in this emergency was agony. As they hurried back to the town, he briefly reviewed these conclusions with Walcott and Fairbairn, all alike agreeing there was nothing remaining for them to do except to take up the trail. The fugitives had already gained too great an advantage to be overhauled, but they might be traced to whatever point they were heading for. In spite of the start being so far to the west, Keith was firmly convinced that their destination would prove to be Carson City.

Procuring horses at the corral, their forces augmented by two volunteers—both men of experience—Keith, Walcott, Fairbairn and Nob departed without delay, not even pausing to eat but taking the necessary food with them. The sun had barely risen when they took up the trail, Keith, and a man named Bristol, slightly in advance, their keen eyes marking every slight sign left for guidance across the bare plain. It was a comparatively easy trail to follow, leading directly into the southwest, the pony tracks cutting into the sod as though the reckless riders had bunched together, their horses trotting rapidly. Evidently no attempt had been made at concealment, and this served to convince the pursuers that Hawley still believed his captive to be Miss MacLaird, and that her disappearance would not be suspected until after daylight. In that case the trail could not be discovered before the following morning, and with such a start, pursuit would be useless. Tireless, steadily, scarcely speaking except upon the business in hand, the pursuers pressed forward at an easy trot, Keith, in spite of intense anxiety, with the remembrance of old cavalry days to guide him, insisting upon sparing the horses as much as possible. This was to be a stern chase and a long one, and it was impossible to tell when they could procure remounts. The constant swerving of the trail westward seemed to whither his earlier theory, and brought him greater uneasiness. Finally he spoke of it to the old plainsman beside him.

"What do you suppose those fellows are heading so far west for, Ben? They are taking a big risk of running into hostiles."

"Oh, I don't know," returned the other gravely, lifting his eyes to the far-off sky line. "I reckon from the news that come in last night from Hays, that ain't no Indians a-ranlin' that way flat now. They're too busy out on the Arickaree. Maybe them fellows heard the same story, an' that's what makes 'em so bold."

"What story? I've heard nothing."

"Why, it's like this, Cap," drawing out the words, "leastways, that's how it come into Sheridan's. 'Sandy' Far-sythe an' his outfit, mostly plainsmen, started a while ago across Solomon River an' down Heavycreek, headin' fer Fort Wallace. Over on the Arickaree, the whole damned Injun outfit jumped 'em. From all I heard, that must a bin high onto three thousand of the varmints, droppin' 'em all at once, hot-bent-fer-deceit, with ol' Roman Nose a leadin' 'em. It was shore a good fight, fer the scouts got onto an island an' stopped the bucks. Two of the fellows got through to Wallace yit, an' a courier brought the news in ter Hays. The Injuns had them boys cooped up thar fer eight days before them fellows got out, an' I reckon it'll be two or three days more 'fore the nigger scoters they sent out ter help ever git thar. So thar won't be no Injuns 'long this route we're travelin', for the whole kit an' caboodle are up thar yit after 'Sandy.'"

"And you suppose Hawley knew about this?"

"Why not, Cap? He was hangin' round till after ten o'clock last night, an' it was all over town by then. 'Tain't likely he's got an outfit 'long with him that's lost any Injuns. I don't know what they're bout, but mo'n you do, but I reckon they're reasonably sure they've got a clear road."

They pulled up on the banks of a small stream to water their horses, and ate hastily. The trail led directly across, and with only the slightest possible delay they forded the shallow water, and mounted the opposite bank. A hundred yards farther on Bristol reined up suddenly, pointing down at the trail.

"One horse left the bunch here," he declared positively. Keith swung himself out of the saddle, and bent over to study the tracks. There was no doubting the evidence—a single horse—the only one shod in the bunch—with a rider on its back, judging from the deep imprint of the hoofs, had swerved sharply to the left of the main body, heading directly into the southeast. The plainsman ran forward for a hundred yards to assure himself the man had not circled back; at that point the animal had been spurred into a lope. Keith rejoined the others.

"Must have been about daylight they reached here," he said, picking up his dangling rein, and looking into the questioning faces about him. "The fellow that rode out yonder alone was heading straight toward Carson City. He is going for fresh horses, I figure it, and will rejoin the bunch some place down on the Arkansas. The others intend to keep farther west, where they won't be seen. What do you say, Ben?"

"That's the way it looks up ter me, Cap; most likely 'twas the boss himself."

"Well, whoever it was, the girl is still with the others, and their trail is the easiest to follow. We'll keep after them."

Facts About Motherhood

The experience of Motherhood is a trying one to most women and marks distinctly an epoch in their lives. Not only is the woman in a hurried and hurried manner prepared to understand how to properly care for her child, but many approach the experience with an organism unfitted for the trial of strength, and when the strain is over her system has received a shock from which it is hard to recover. Following right upon this comes the nervous strain of caring for the child, and a distinct change in the mother results. There is nothing more charming than a happy and healthy mother of children, and indeed child-birth under right conditions need be no hazard to health or beauty. The inexpressible thing is that, with all the evidence of shattered nerves and broken health resulting from an unprepared condition, women will persist in going blindly to the trial. It isn't as though the experience came upon them unawares. They have ample time in which to prepare, but they, for the most part, trust to chance and pay the penalty.

In many homes once childless there are now children because of the fact that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound makes women normal, healthy, and strong.

Any woman who would like special advice in regard to this matter is cordially invited to write to Mrs. Pinkham at Lynn, Mass. Her letter will be held in strict confidence.

STRANGE WAY OF SWEARING

A strange way of cursing is that of the Korean. His ordinary swear word is "Oomum!" or "You brute!" The Japanese have the same partiality for this term of endearment. But according to the Oriental Economic Review the Korean considers himself especially abusive when he calls a person his child or grandchild.

When he wants to call somebody down the Korean demands hotly: "Are you not my child?" And the angry retort is: "What! I your child? You are my grandchild!"

Then the first goes a step further and cries, "You are a grandchild of my grandchild!" to which the retort is, "You conceited fellow, have you forgotten that you are a grandchild of a grandchild of my grandchild?"

When their vituperation reaches its climax, the people of Chosen at last come to the occidental standard of exclaiming, "You grandchild of a dog!"

ADOPTS GOOSE AS A PET

During a recent visit to Bridlington, writes a correspondent of Country Life, I was much amused to come across a large goose that had been adopted as the pet of a small home in the older part of the town. It frequently followed its master on the pier and in the streets and might often be seen waddling after him with slow, measured steps along the country lanes, sometimes walking eight and ten miles at a stretch.

Two years ago the live goose was sent in November for the Christmas day dinner, a destiny which was never fulfilled, as before a week had passed it had become the pet of the family, walking in and out of the house at its leisure. It now often takes its food from the children's hands at the dining-table and constantly perches on the man's shoulder as he sits and reads. The old bird is a popular favorite in Bridlington, where it is well known by the name of John Willie.
